

Room Ready Supply

Core Project Goal

Build a clean, professional web experience that explains Room Ready Supply, presents a simple electronic catalog, and makes one-time ordering and repeat reordering easy for hospitality and facility customers.

Brand Promise: Rooms ready. Supplies handled. Reorders made easy.

Project Summary

Primary Objective

Room Ready Supply needs a landing page, electronic catalog, and ordering page that help hospitality and facility customers understand the company, browse core supply items, request business pricing, and submit simple order or reorder requests.

Room Ready Supply is a hospitality and facility supply company focused on helping hotels, motels, short-term rental operators, cleaning companies, restaurants, campgrounds, RV parks, and small facilities stay stocked with everyday supplies.

The website should not feel like a generic retail store. It should feel like a business ordering platform built for repeat-use essentials and simple reorder management.

The customer should immediately understand three things:

- What Room Ready Supply provides.
- How to browse the catalog and request pricing.
- How to place an order or set up a reorder schedule.

Target Customer

Primary Buyers	Hotels, motels, short-term rental owners, vacation rental managers, cleaning companies, small restaurants, campgrounds, RV parks, property managers, and facility managers.
Customer Priorities	Reliable supply, easy reordering, competitive case pricing, simple communication, local/regional support, and fewer last-minute supply problems.
Buying Behavior	These customers often buy the same items repeatedly. The site should support recurring buying behavior instead of making each order feel like a brand-new transaction.

Brand Positioning

Room Ready Supply should be positioned as a practical supply partner. The brand should feel clean, sharp, professional, trustworthy, hospitality-focused, and easy to use.

Main Brand Message

Room Ready Supply helps operators stop chasing supplies and start using a simple reorder system.

Avoid making the brand feel too playful, too industrial, too cheap, or too complicated. The site should look polished enough for a hotel manager or facility operator to trust it immediately.

Recommended Website Flow

Deliverable / Requirement	Expected Outcome
1. Homepage / Landing Page	Explain who we serve, what we supply, and why the ordering process is easier than traditional supply purchasing.
2. Catalog	Show core products in organized categories with product name, pack size, case quantity, description, pricing, and add-to-order action.
3. Order Page	Capture customer information, selected products, quantities, delivery details, one-time order or reorder preference, and notes.
4. Business Pricing Request	Allow larger buyers to request pricing based on their current supply list, monthly usage, or invoice.
5. Auto-Reorder Setup	Let customers choose recurring order reminders or recurring orders with approval before processing.

Landing Page Direction

The landing page should be clear and direct. It should not overwhelm the visitor with every product at once. It should explain the value, show the main product categories, and guide the user into the catalog or order request process.

Suggested Hero Section

Headline	Keep Your Rooms Ready Without Chasing Supplies
Subheadline	Room Ready Supply helps hotels, motels, short-term rentals, cleaning companies, and facilities order the everyday supplies they need with simple pricing, easy reordering, and local support.
Primary CTA	Shop Catalog
Secondary CTA	Request Business Pricing

Suggested Homepage Sections

- What We Supply - everyday hospitality and facility essentials.
- Who We Serve - hotels, motels, short-term rentals, cleaning companies, restaurants, campgrounds, RV parks, and facilities.
- How Ordering Works - browse, select, submit, confirm, reorder.
- Core Product Categories - paper products, trash liners, cleaning, soaps, laundry, dishwashing, guest room supplies, linens, and food service supplies.
- Reorder Program - set a repeat schedule or reminder so customers do not run out.
- Business Pricing - submit current usage or invoices for quote review.

Important Design Note

The homepage should be short enough to understand quickly, but complete enough for a business customer to know what action to take next.

Electronic Catalog Requirements

The catalog should be clean, organized, and easy to scan. It should feel like a business supply catalog, not a consumer shopping marketplace.

Product Categories

- Toilet Paper
- Paper Towels
- Trash Liners
- Cleaning Chemicals

- Hand Soap
- Laundry Supplies
- Dishwashing Supplies
- Guest Room Supplies
- Towels and Linens
- Food Service Supplies
- Facility Supplies

Each Product Should Include

- Product name
- Product image, if available
- Case quantity and pack size
- Short product description
- Price per case or quote request note
- Volume pricing if applicable
- Minimum order or delivery notes if applicable
- Add to order button
- One-time order option
- Reorder option

Ordering Page Requirements

The ordering page should be simple and practical. If a full e-commerce checkout slows the project down, a clean order-request workflow is acceptable for the first version. The key is capturing the right information and making the order easy for both the customer and Room Ready Supply staff.

Deliverable / Requirement	Expected Outcome
Customer Details	Business name, contact name, phone, email, and delivery address.
Order Details	Products selected, quantities, one-time order or reorder setup, and notes.
Reorder Frequency	Weekly, every 2 weeks, monthly, every 45 days, every 60 days, or custom schedule.
Submission Result	Customer sees confirmation that the order request was received and Room Ready Supply will confirm pricing, availability, and delivery details.

Reorder and Auto-Reorder Process

Preferred Setup

Use auto-order with approval. The customer receives a reminder before an order is processed and can approve, edit, skip, pause, or cancel.

This process is important because the long-term value of Room Ready Supply is repeat buyers, not just one-time purchases.

Customer Reorder Flow

Deliverable / Requirement	Expected Outcome
1. Customer builds supply list	They browse the catalog or send current supply list/invoice.
2. Room Ready Supply reviews	The team helps match products and confirm availability/pricing.
3. First order is placed	Customer submits order request and receives confirmation.
4. Reorder timing is selected	Customer chooses weekly, biweekly, monthly, 45-day, 60-day, or custom frequency.
5. Reminder is sent	Customer receives reminder before the reorder date.
6. Customer approves or edits	Customer can approve, edit quantities, skip, pause, or cancel.
7. Order is fulfilled	Room Ready Supply processes the confirmed reorder.

Business Pricing / Quote Request

Some customers will need larger volume pricing. There should be a clear call to action for business pricing and quote review.

Suggested CTA: Request Business Pricing

The form should capture:

- Business name and customer type
- Contact name, phone, and email
- Current supplier, if known
- Products they buy regularly
- Estimated monthly usage
- Current invoice upload option, if possible
- Notes about delivery location or recurring supply needs

Positioning for Pricing

Do not overpromise lowest prices. Position Room Ready Supply as competitive, simple, reliable, and easier to reorder from.

Design and Branding Direction

Use the Room Ready Supply logo when provided. Keep the design professional, clean, and sharp. The site should look like a supply partner serving hospitality and facility buyers.

Visual Feel	White or light background, clean sections, strong headings, sharp cards, simple product category blocks, and clear CTA buttons.
Color Direction	Use brand-aligned blues, clean neutrals, and one accent color for action buttons or highlights. Keep color use controlled and professional.
Typography	Use modern, easy-to-read fonts. Headings should be strong; body copy should be simple and readable on desktop and mobile.
Imagery	Use clean product images, hospitality supply visuals, room-ready/housekeeping context, organized shelves, cases, and practical facility supply imagery.

Copywriting Tone

- Professional, clear, helpful, direct, and confident.
- Avoid hype, exaggerated claims, and cheap liquidation language.
- Use phrases like competitive case pricing, simple reordering, hospitality-focused supply, local support, build your supply list, and request business pricing.

Suggested Copy Blocks

These copy blocks can be used as starting points for the website.

Hero Headline	Keep Your Rooms Ready Without Chasing Supplies
Hero Subheadline	Order the everyday supplies your property uses most, with simple case pricing, organized reordering, and support built around hospitality operators.
Catalog Intro	Browse core hospitality and facility supplies by category. Select what you need, add quantities, and submit your order request.
Reorder Section	Set it once. Reorder made easy. Build your supply list and choose a reminder or recurring schedule so your team does not start from scratch every time.
Business Pricing	Let us quote the products you already buy. Send your current supply list, invoice, or estimated monthly usage and we will help review available options.

Primary Calls to Action

- Shop Catalog
- Build My Supply List
- Request Business Pricing
- Set Up Auto-Reorder
- Submit Order Request
- Contact Room Ready Supply

Technical and Functional Notes

Deliverable / Requirement	Expected Outcome
Mobile Friendly	The landing page, catalog, and order form must be easy to use on a phone.
Fast Load Time	Keep the site lightweight with optimized images and simple page structure.
Simple Admin Updating	Products, prices, pack sizes, and categories should be easy for the Room Ready Supply team to update.
Order Notifications	Submitted orders should notify the team by email or CRM workflow if integrated.
Customer Confirmation	Customers should receive a clear confirmation message after submitting an order request.

Deliverable / Requirement	Expected Outcome
Future Expansion	Build the structure so full checkout, customer accounts, text reminders, and CRM integration can be added later.

What to Avoid

- A cluttered catalog with too many products shown at once.
- A retail-style design that feels like a consumer store.
- Overpromising lowest prices or guaranteed savings.
- Making customers call before they understand what Room Ready Supply offers.
- Hiding the reorder process or treating it like an afterthought.
- Making the first version too complicated to launch.

Final Deliverable Checklist

Deliverable / Requirement	Expected Outcome
Landing Page	Clear homepage with hero section, customer explanation, categories, reorder section, and CTA buttons.
Electronic Catalog	Organized product categories with product details, pricing/quote logic, and add-to-order actions.
Ordering Page	Simple form that captures customer, delivery, product, quantity, and reorder details.
Business Pricing Form	Lead capture form for quote requests, current supply lists, invoices, and monthly usage.
Auto-Reorder Setup	Reorder frequency options and approval-based recurring order language.
Brand Style	Clean, sharp, professional, hospitality-focused design using Room Ready Supply branding.
Launch Ready	Mobile-friendly, easy to update, clear confirmation messages, and built for future CRM/e-commerce growth.

Bottom Line

Room Ready Supply should feel like a dependable supply partner that helps operators keep rooms and facilities ready. The site must explain the process clearly, make the catalog easy to use, and turn one-time buyers into repeat reorder customers.
